THE "HOME SEEKER."

FIVE THOUSAND COPIES OF THE "HOME SEEKER" were published last ogden goes into the hands of those coming into the State in search of homes Our agent at Ogden goes into the cars and places a copy in the hands of each head of a family and single person. The "HOME SEEKER" is the best advertising medium ever offered to those who wish to extend their business to new settlers. To hotel men and real estate agents it is invaluable. An advertisement in an ordinary publication, promischously distributed, does not meet with more than one customer out of every hundred people which it reaches. The "HOME SEEKER" is distributed only to those who are coming here with a desire of buying immediately. Not a single copy is wasted. We have received a solid support from the business community of the northern half of the State. The continuous publication of the "HOMESEEKER", is an assured fact. More land can be solid by an advertisement, with us than any other way. is an assured fact. More land can be sold by an advertisement with us than any other way known. We shall make the "HOME SEEKER" subserve the best interests of the northern half of the State. It is issued to promote immigration and to locate the settlers in the northern counties. We ask the support of the business men of that region which we are laboring to build up. Our work is important to every branch of business. If you want to help yourselves, help us.

CALIFORNIA FRUIT AT THE

Statements and Suggestions by Eastern Dealers About Picking, Packing, Shipping, Etc.

The all-important question with Califor nia fruit-growers, and one in which all the people of the State are interested, is that of a market for our truits. The ability to raise or produce an unlimited quantity of even the choicest of any class of product is of limited value and an incomplete blessing without a corresponding market for the same. Much has been said of late as to a ufficient demand for the largely-increasing production of fruits in this State, and not infrequently the opinion has been expressed by press and individuals that there rould soon be a large excess of supply over any market that could be found. The ollowing extracts, therefore, from a letter received by Messrs. Coats & Toole, of Napa, Cal., from the extensive fruit-jobbing house of Hixson, Justi & Co., Chicago, will be read with interest. Among other things

The people are beginning to realize that California fruits are being sent here to be sold in quantities and at prices that the masses can use them, and not as formerly, only a limited amount allowed to come, and that held at prices that none but the HOW TO PICK, PACK AND SHIP FRUIT. h could afford to buy. Were in bad condition. Our theory is that the evaporation of the moisture from the fruit having no means of escaping, collected on the under side of the lid, and being held down on the fruit caused the mold to form very rapfully. This theory is strengthened by the fact that one lot of fifteen crates that had small cleats on the ends underneath the lid, and a sheet of paper stretched over them before nailing on the lid, came through in fine order. The paper evidently absorbed the moisture, and there being an air-space between that end and the cherries, they did not mold.

A QUESTION OF TASTE.

A picture has been rejected at the Loan Exhibition in Los Angeles, which was accepted and displayed at the Sacramento Loan Exhibition. The incident of rejection by one and acceptance by another committee simply testifies to the vitality of an old question—the place of the nude in art. There will be no end to the discussion of the question so long as the tastes of the people vary, as they always must, unless indeed it is held that there may come an age when art culture will be uniform among all the people. It would be inaccurate to credit the position of one class of critics with occupancy of any higher plane of moral ideas than the other; that is to say, is is not to be understood that the association rejecting the picture at Los made more certain by the wisdom gained Angeles has clearer moral perceptions than the association which in Sacramento found the picture unobjectionable from an art standpoint. But there is justification for saying that the art tastes of the Los Angeles association are of a much narrower order. It has failed to look beyond the physical, the sensuous, for art merit in the picture. It has testified to a sensitiveness of modesty, but that does not bear witness to its holding to a higher standard of propriety than entertained by the California Museum Association of Sacramento. Prudery, we conclude, is evidenced by such rejections as that at Los Angeles, as being the chief element that influences the judges, however much and sincerely they may deny that they are prudes That committee would find itself sadly out of place in the London National Gallery or in the Louvre, and in an atmospere stiflingly foreign to its views, if it walked the halls of Dresden or the art avenues of Florence. In those and similar depositories of art it will find that figure-painting is, in reality, but faintly revealed to the people of the New World, and that criticism of figure-painting moves here oftenest upon exceeding low levels. There are but very few men or women of all our millions competent to assume the role of authoritative art critics--certainly neither Los Angeles nor Sacramento can claim any such. When local committees of inexperience set themselves up to determine the question of propriety in art they are very apt to testify to their want of true art perception. The better judgment is that of the committee which gave the benefit of any doubt it may have had to art, and not to prudery. The Sacramento committee took this view-if it at all entertained any doubts regarding the picture the Los Angeles committee has continued to so successfully advertise. In short, the committee at Los Angeles may, without offense, be adjudged as having acted, not from the standpoint of art criticism, but from the plane of personal taste in the first instance, world might say" in the second. Obviwas of high culture in art criticism. It day with the same hose and hydrant would be interesting to know how the Los used at the fire, which on that occasion threw a stream less than eight feet. BROWN AND EGAN.

The Evidence all in—The Case Will go t the Jury this Morning. The taking of testimony in the case the People vs. Brown and Egan, charged with assault with a deadly weapon, was resumed in Department One of the Superior Court yesterday. The first witness called was Julia Pock-man, who rooms in the building and was from the cannery, at Eleventh and D streets, one of the women that Brown and Egan were looking for when the alleged assault Witness stated that she had took place. Witness stated that she had heard Mrs. Hotz say that if she had gone to the door instead of her husband she thought all the trouble would have been th averted. Mrs. Hotz also said in witness' presence that her husband was cross, cranky and quick-tempered, and she wished she had let the boys kill him. RESCUED FROM DEATH.

William J. Coughlin, of Somerville, Mass., says: In the fall of 1876 I was taken with A Store in Paris.

There is in Paris a remarkable store. It is larger by far than any other retail establishment. It covers more ground, employs more people, keeps a larger variety of goods, and has prices generally lower than those of any other store. Indeed, its large trade justifies the greatest care and attention in buying and selling even unimportant lines of goods.

That house is still growing-still expanding and making wider the gap that marks it as unique and different from the thousand and one other stores in Paris. It is true, other Parisian houses deal in similar lines of goods, and in part present some of the same advantages, but not all. If they did, the supremacy of this particular store would be of short duration. Parisians, like other people, desire to trade where they can get-not the best goods or lowest prices, but the best goods and lowest prices.

to, as regards Paris, is true of our house as regards Sacramento. The same facts, reasonings and deductions apply in both cases. In proportion to population this store is fully as large as the foreign establishment, and its advantages appeal to our people with at least equal force and equal logic.

the more clearly is seen, that in business as in physics, nothing is governed by chance. In every community THAT store succeeds best which does the most to deserve success.

BREAKFAST.

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately-flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—[Civil Service Gazette.

A number of clerks will be retired with their chiefs, and the shops at Terrace have been closed. Still further reductions are contemplated, and will be announced in a few days. The explanation of this is that business of all kinds has fallen off. The actual traffic of five months of this year is far below what it was estimated it would be, and the receipts for some months have been much less than the expenses. It is stated by a prominent man connected with the company that within the last eight days the expenses were over $100,000 more than the receipts.
